Section 7. At no time may this section be used to reduce the number of candidates on the ballot to less than two.

Section 8. The balloting on candidates shall continue until a candidate shall have received a majority of the votes cast of the certified convention delegates casting a vote. If a majority is reached during the announcement and tallying of votes, the Convention Secretary shall continue the calling and counting until every District has announced its vote and all votes are recorded.

At the conclusion of the balloting during which a candidate has received a majority vote of the certified delegates casting a vote, the Convention Chair shall declare the candidate endorsed and the official candidate of the North Dakota Republican Party at the Primary Election to be held in June or elected to the position if the position was an election.

The North Dakota Republican State Chairman will be responsible for calling such a Special Convention.

RULE NO. 15. PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE FOR WHOM DELEGATES ARE BOUND TO VOTE AT THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION

RULE NO. 16. PRESIDENTIAL CAUCUS RULES

Section 1.

Presidential Caucuses will be held prior to March 15th the year of the Presidential Election.

Section 2.

Delegates will be awarded proportionally to candidates who receive at least 20% of the votes cast.

1. Formula for delegate allocation

If candidate A received 30% of the vote, candidate B received 18% of the vote, candidate C received 21% of the vote, candidate D received 22% of the vote, candidate E received 8% of the vote, and 1% of the vote was spread to various write-ins the delegate allotment in consideration of North Dakota's 28 delegates would be applied as follows.

This example is illustrative of 29 delegate positions.

A: 41% of qualifying votes = (11.89) 12 delegates

B: 0 delegates

C: 29% of qualifying votes = (8.41) 8 delegates

D: 30% of qualifying votes = (8.7) 9 delegates

E: 0 delegates

The formula: Add the percentages of the qualifying candidates (20%+) which were $30\%+21\%+22\%=73\%$. Next, we take 73% which represents the whole of qualifying candidates and determine what portion of the whole (73%) each candidate garnered:

A: $30/73=41\%$ C: $21/73=29\%$ D: $22/73=30\%$ this gives up our multipliers to determine delegate allotment.

A: $.41\hat{A}\sim 29= 11.89$ C: $.29\hat{A}\sim 29=8.41$ D: $.30\hat{A}\sim 29=8.7$

Finally, we divide the delegates accordingly: Each delegate gets the whole number of delegates they received in this case 27. The remaining delegates (2) are allocated to the candidate with the highest fractional portion of a delegate. In this case, the results are as follows:

1. A: .89 C: .41 D: .7 Candidate A has the highest fractional portion of a delegate at .89 and Candidate D has the next highest at .7.

Candidate A would receive 12 delegates;

Candidate C would receive 8 delegates;

Candidate D would receive 9 delegates.

In the event of a tie the unassigned delegate(s) must elect to be bound to the candidate of their choosing.

Section 3. Winner Take All

If a candidate garners at least 60% of the votes cast they will receive all of the delegates.

Section 4: Candidate Withdrawal

Should a candidate who received delegates withdraw, suspend their campaign or drop from the race prior to the Republican National Convention, those delegates assigned to the candidate shall proceed to the convention unbound.
