Three Presidential Campaigns Complete NDGOP Caucus Requirements

Bismark, ND – Three presidential campaigns, former President Donald J. Trump, Gov. Doug Burgum and former U.N. ambassador, Nikki Haley have completed all requirements for the NDGOP Presidential Caucus to be held March 4, 2024.

Presidential access to the ballot was restricted to those candidates who have filed with the FEC; gathered signatures from 10 members of the NDGOP State Committee; and submitted payment of $20,000 to the North Dakota Republican Party by Dec. 31, 2023.

All national GOP presidential campaigns have reached out to the NDGOP for more information about the caucus. “Each Republican presidential candidate who was in the last debate has contacted us to learn the requirements of competing in the March contest and have been provided the necessary forms and deadlines” said Robert W. Harms, Chairman of the Presidential Caucus Committee. Two campaigns had representatives at the Oct.13 State Committee to secure signatures needed to qualify for the ballot. “The North Dakota Caucus is the evening before “Super Tuesday” which may influence votes in other states” said Harms. “Because of the timing and its potential influence on the national scene, we expect continued interest and that other candidates will qualify in the weeks ahead.”

Republicans across the state will gather to vote for their preferred presidential candidate March 4, in Williston, Minot, Devils Lake, Grand Forks, Fargo, Jamestown, Bismarck and Dickinson. Other polling places maybe developed in other districts. Voting will be from 5 p.m. - 8 p.m. Central time (4 p.m. - 7 p.m. Mountain time). North Dakota’s 38 delegates will then be bound to the candidate at the Republican National Convention based upon the votes cast in North Dakota.

“Republicans should mark their calendars and be prepared to vote March 4, 2024,” said Sandi Sanford, NDGOP Chairwoman. “This gives North Dakota a chance to make its mark on who will be the Republican nominee for President of our great country,” said Sanford.
